Honestly? Really? Yes. It doesn't taste like a decaf. Did you put it in the wrong bag? No. It's decaf. For real. And why doesn't it have that typical sticky decaf taste? Three reasons: First, really good green coffee. Secondly, it is decaffeinated with ethyl acetate obtained from sugar cane. And thirdly, we didn't fall asleep while roasting. And, uh, fourth, we really wanted a decent decaf that was in no way inferior to a WITH. So one is able to sleep and for all the mums.
